It's not easy to be an employer in 2016. Legislative & regulatory requirements in the HR space are rapidly changing & becoming more complex. Expectations for employers around HR policies, investigating & responding to internal complaints, workplace accommodation & other employee relations issues are increasing. Not only are the potential liabilities rising, but employers now also face the risk of reputational harm through social media as a result of employee misconduct. Join us for this lunch & learn when we discuss some of the emerging risks in today's workplace & what steps employers can take to manage them.
